IMMENSE CROWD SEES CO. G LEAVE THE CITY

ALMOST 10,000 PEOPLE TURN OUT TO SEE SOLDIERS TAKE DEPARTURE.

JOY AND SORROW EVIDENT

Inspiring Talks by Mayor M. T. Krueger and R. A. Rogers—Excellent Response by Capt. J. E. Shultz.

They have left the city, and nearly 10,000 people witnessed their departure! The members of Co. G departed from the city at 7:25 o'clock this morning on a special train over the L. E. & W. road for Ft. Benjamin Harrison. The country called them, and they heard the call and responded. And as they gathered at the depot, and loving farewells were said, many a father grew weak beneath the ordeal. The eyes of many a mother were moist as with a mother's pride they kissed their boys as they were about to board the train.

Previous to the departure of the company the scene at the railway station was one that will go down in the history of Michigan City as being the most memorable and auspicious of its kind that has ever taken place. Besides mothers and fathers, brothers, sisters, sweethearts and friends gathered at the station with but one single thought: to say a last farewell and word of encouragement to their loved ones.

People Up Early.

The gray of the morning found lights in many homes. The soldiers had arisen early to meet this eventful day in their lives and their country's history. And when they reached the depot a vast assemblage of people was there, all proud of their boys. Too much in praise can not be said of these noble young men who have stood willing to surrender the comforts of home for their country's protection and who today are on their way, to return, fate alone knows when. In June, 1916, Michigan City saw them depart for the Mexican border to spend the greater part of a year, and saw all of them return. It is hoped that fate will again treat them the same. They are brave and patriotic, every man of them, and Michigan City is proud of them because they support the flag under which they live.

At Armory at 6 O'Clock.

At 6 o'clock the company met at the armory at the Y. M. C. A. building. Headed by the Haskell and Barker band, the members of which turned out and donated their services, and followed by the Elks, carrying a large American flag, the company marched north in Franklin street to the depot. The fronts of business houses and homes were decorated with flags for Mayor Krueger introduced R. A. Rogers, father of First Sergeant Warren G. Rogers of Co. G. Mr. Rogers said that it was with a mingled feeling of sorrow and joy that all met at the depot this morning. That they were sad to see the boys depart, but mingled with it was the happy thought that the boys had the courage and stability to respond to the call of their country. He impressed upon their minds the duty of keeping morally clean and bid them to place their trust in God. "You little know," said Mr. Rogers, "the real feelings of fathers and mothers as they see their sons leave on this occasion." He closed his talk with an appropriate passage from the scriptures.

Response by Captain Shultz.

Captain J. E. Shultz of Co. G responded in behalf of the company. "Ladies and gentlemen, mothers and fathers of the G boys, let me thank you in behalf of the members of Co. G for the royal treatment and God-speed you have given us. You have been loyal to us and stood back of us morally and financially. I assure you that I will do everything I possibly can to take care of your boys and bring them back clean." He expressed the company's thanks to the ladies of the

TIME AND AGAIN.

Neither Side Is Able to Retain Commanding Peak After Austrians Received Heavy Reinforcements.

United Press Special.

London, Sept. 7.—Arrival of fresh troops, some of them believed to be German divisions, increased the ferocity of the battle on the Austro-Italian fronts today.

What is described as the most bitterly contested battle ever fought in this theater of the war is now raging over and around Monte St. Gabriele. Capture of the dominating height was announced by the Italians several days ago. They held it, however, not more than 24 hours before Austrian counter attacks of terrific force dislodged them.

Since that time the summit has changed hands again and again, neither side being able successfully to maintain its ruined and rocky slopes against the other. Incessant artillery fire has worn down practically all of the carefully blasted-out trenches and defensive works and no cover is available.

PETROGRAD EXPECTS ATTACK BY GERMANS

PLACARDS DISTRIBUTED CALLING ON ALL RUSSIANS TO DO THEIR DUTY.

TROOPS PASSING THROUGH

Populace Remains Quiet, and no Panic Is Apparent as a Result of a Threatened Invasion.

(By Wm. G. Sheppard, United Press Correspondent.)

Petrograd, Sept. 7.—Petrograd is preparing for a possible German attack. Red placards throughout the city today called on all Russians to do their duty. Troops are passing through the city en route to the front. But the populace remains quiet and no panic is apparent.

Riga's fall inspired the city with determination to fight.

Wholesale arrests in a counter revolution plot attracted attention today. Grand Duke Jean Constantinovich, son of the former czar's uncle, and Grand Duke Constantin are reported to have been taken into custody.

London, Sept. 7.—Germany may be preparing to turn her battle fleet to the job of blasting the Russian fleet and bombarding Petrograd.

Within the last week the presence in the Baltic of submarines, destroyers, mine sweepers, cruisers and even heavier warships has been reported, culminating today in dispatches indicating a German fleet at the entrance to the Gulf of Finland. This would put the enemy vessels about 300 miles distant from Petrograd.

If Germany chooses, she can concentrate a big squadron for a sea drive on Russia. The Kiel canal would permit transfer of any necessary ships now in North sea German ports into the Baltic.

Two great Russian naval depots and fortresses guard the capital. They are Reval, close to the mouth of the gulf, and Kronstadt, only a score of miles from Petrograd.

The gulf itself has been thickly sowed with mines. Part of the Russian fleet is known to be at Reval. It is so far outranked by the German fleet, however, that it is doubtful if they could impede any formidable squadron.

The fronts of business houses and homes were decorated with flags for the occasion. A short program of speeches, arranged by the Michigan City Patriotic society, was given at the depot. A large auto truck of J. M. Dunlap and Son, decorated in true American style, served as the speakers' stand.

Mayor Krueger Speaks.

Mayor M. T. Krueger, in behalf of the citizens of Michigan City, wished the boys of Co. G God-speed and bid them goodbye. In the course of his remarks he stated that the soldiers, instead of hearing oratory, would rather converse with those who are near and dear to them. Said the mayor: "I have seen soldier boys depart from Michigan City on four different occasions. I saw them go in the early 60's at the time of the great civil war. I saw them depart in 1898 when we had our war with Spain. I saw these same boys leave Michigan City in June, 1916, when they left for the Mexican border. And I want to tell you that they all came back and I believe that you will come back, knowing, if you do not, there will be a good reason, that you will have given a good account of yourselves."

Talk by R. A. Rogers.

At the conclusion of his speech,

"Ladies and gentlemen, mothers and fathers of the G boys, let me thank you in behalf of the members of Co. G for the royal treatment and God-speed you have given us. Is Now in the East.

Bryan Sorge, who was recently assigned to the artillery corps of the army by Co. G and ordered to report for duty at Ft. Harrison, left there yesterday for the concentration camp on Long Island and it is expected that he will go with the artillery forces to France within a month or so. The other nine Michigan City boys who were transferred to the artillery with Mr. Sorge have also probably been sent to the coast.

The argument on the utility phase of the Tuesberg ditch case was concluded yesterday afternoon and the judge and lawyers went to Valparaiso to formulate findings, which will be reported in court here tomorrow morning.

United Press Dispatch.

Birkenhead, Eng., Sept. 7.—"America has never known defeat, and will triumph in this war," was the confident prediction of David Lloyd-George which brought tumultuous applause during an address here today. The premier admitted developments in Russia had been disappointing, but expressed the opinion that "the chiefs now in control in Russia will repair the broken machine and continue the war to victory."

Births.

A son was born Thursday night to Mr. and Mrs. Carl Fisher, who reside five miles south of the city. This is their first child.

local chapter of the Red Cross organization for the comfort kits they presented to the boys Thursday afternoon. "To you, ladies of the Red Cross," declared Captain Shultz, "these comfort kits represent the expenditure of money and much time and labor. To Co. G they will mean comfort and cleanliness." He urged the people of Michigan City to write to the boys, stating that letters and pictures from home will be as welcome to the soldiers as letters and pictures from the front will be to the home folks.

Are Away in Few Minutes.

As Captain Shultz finished his speech the train that was to take him and his company to Ft. Denj. Harrison pulled up, the soldiers filed into the coaches, the band played "Auld Lang Syne" and other selections and in a few minutes the train was leaving the station. Lunch was served to the members of the company en route and upon arrival at Ft. Denj. Harrison the making of camp was commenced. Co. G company was joined in Laporte by Co. B of that city.

Citizens Turn Out Well.

When the members of Co. G moved slowly out of the city this morning it was evident that the citizens of Michigan City had expressed their loyalty, admiration and love for the brave soldiers and from the look of determination that lit every eye of the departing soldiers it is also evident that the city will be proud of the men when they return.

Two Bushels of Fruit.

J. F. Mathews of Waterford brought a bushel of apples and a bushel of peaches to the city this morning and presented them to Co. G. They were grown on Mr. Mathews' farm and the soldiers greatly appreciated the gift of luscious fruit.

Brings World War Home.

The departure of Co. G from the city today brought to thousands of residents, in a very striking way, the realization that the United States is now participating in a gigantic struggle for the principle of freedom. That the people of the city are behind the men was clearly evident by the big turnout.

Many Sad Hearts in Crowd.

While gaiety and good spirit seemed to radiate from the entraining troops and their friends, yet another feeling, that of seriousness and solemnity of the occasion, ran as an undercurrent through the crowd. Mothers, tears streaming down their cheeks and with voices too choked with emotion to speak, formed a scene that was mute evidence of the real spirit that dominated the big crowd. Heart-rending in every sense of the word was the picture that these sad mothers made as they kissed their boys a last farewell—probably the last kiss they would ever be able to press against their loved one's cheeks. Sweethearts of members of the company were on hand, too; and they were just as eager to bid farewell to their loved ones and just as eager to press a kiss against their lips as were the good mothers. Many a fond word and caress was given by these young ladies to their dear friends in the short time that elapsed before the train drew away from the depot.

Off to Join Co. G.

Raymond M. Dunlap has enlisted in Co. G and left this morning for Ft. Wayne to take an examination, and, if successful, as he hopes he will be, he will join the company at Ft. Benj. Harrison. Mr. Dunlap is one of Michigan City's well known and popular young men and to him, too, is due praise for his desire to help Uncle Sam.

Send Them the Papers.

Michigan City, Sept. 7, 1917

To the Editor Dispatch: Today marks an epoch in the history of Michigan City. "Our boys" have again "started for the front." Michigan City has always had reason to be proud of her soldiers. They have always made good wherever they have been, and these boys and the select seven who left a few days ago are starting on the most extensive campaign that has ever engaged our forces. They will all do their duty. Of that we have not a doubt. They will see much, but there will never be a time when they will not eagerly enjoy a word from home. The only way that each one can be sure of direct word is the home newspapers. Can we not as a community with the help of the publishers see that every boy has the home papers every day? Sometimes, of course, they will be old, but I know they will be no less welcome. For Co. G it will not require 125 papers by any means, as they will pass from man to man.

And another way that, with this, will assure them of a personal feeling, letters to the boys could be published as often as may be from personal friends of the boys or any of them, or even from those who are friends simply because they are "our boys," and the replies from the boys would be as eagerly read by everyone of us and by their comrades as well.

I simply make this as a suggestion, as a method by which we can all help and do something that will reach every boy who has gone from our town, every day he is gone.

Sincerely,

Whitefield Bowe.
